

FRIENDS FOREVER

A poem from a young girl to a friend she classes as a sister to show how grateful she is for that friendship; friends forever.

I could skip a heartbeat, and I would survive,
I could be in a car crash, and still be alive.
The clouds could fall out of the sky,
The oceans could disappear, and all turn dry.
Life would not be the same without someone like you,
You're there when I need you to help me through.
Through the good times and through the bad,
Be them happy, or be them sad
Life goes on, and people change,
And through it all, our friendship shall remain the same.
That's such a life, and how things come to be.
Just thought you should know,
HOW MUCH YOU MEAN TO ME.
